Reach For The Sun

Plant Supports (UK) Limited is a family-run business with a life-long passion for gardening. We design and manufacture an extensive range of clever, practical and functional garden products. In the early years, our own gardening exploits told us what would be useful; but many are now based on what other gardeners have told us they need.

Every plant support is crafted to satisfy one, or in many cases, several needs in your garden. It could be the medium-sized Cone that is perfect for supporting shrub roses throughout the year, or the Border Edge supports that lift every low-growing and cascading plant gently away from the edge of your lawn.

Proud to manufacture in Britain, using British materials

Robust construction in solid steel

Olive Drab powder coated finish available, subject to availability due to current high energy costs

Allow every plant to reach for the sun and they will flourish. After all the planning, hard work, maintenance and care; you and your garden deserve the best results.

Twist Easy

A very clever, best seller

The Twist Easy can be positioned when the plant is established. Simply push the support into the ground and twist, gathering the stems as you turn. Better still, place the support in the ground before the plant grows and let it reach up naturally through the support.

Choosing from four different sizes ensures you have the perfect support for everything from the tallest Lilies and Fox Gloves, to the Daffodils and Tulips that love to flop!

ARC

Easy to use, easy to move

The Arc provides stability for stems, leaves and flowers. If you know which way the strongest winds blow, use an Arc on the leeward side of the plant for protection. The Standard Arc will support gangly plant species such as Delphiniums and Dahlias, whilst the Heavy-Duty Arc will deal with the larger and denser plants such as Hydrangea and Bamboo.

DOUBLE ARC

All-round protection

The Double Arc provides protection in any windy, exposed areas of your garden and support for those taller and top-heavy plants that can bend and break as they grow. Asters, Sedum and Shasta Daisies can all be cossetted by positioning one adjacent Double Arc, or enclosed completely by using two or three Double Arcs. You can also wrap fleece around and over the structure for protection from winter temperatures.

PLANT GIRDLES

Elegant all round

A substantial and stable plant support that can be used to protect a wide variety of herbaceous plants and shrubs from wind damage. The 180° design allows you to double-up for total closure. Placing a number of plant girdles in a row by alternating - one facing forwards and the next facing backwards - would create an impressive and striking effect lengthways on a longer border.

GROW THROUGH

A perennial favourite

A perfect excuse to 'get out there' and position plant supports over perennials early in the growing season. The Grow Through is almost a dream-catcher on legs and is available in a number of different sizes to sit perfectly around a huge variety of different plants and shrubs.

ROPE/EDGING SUPPORT & HOSE GUIDE

Damage limitation!

Sometimes, you just want to draw the eye to feature plants or the border in best bloom right now. The Rope / Edging Support has a large enough loop to take a line of bamboo or willow sticks, or to hold rope, jute, sisal or twine in place to frame your favourites. Give it an 'Admire But Keep Off' sort of stately home feel.

Probably every gardener has inadvertently damaged corner plants - at least once, when pulling a hose pipe between borders. The Wrought Iron Hose Guide has three sturdy legs and a 50mm ball on top to prevent the hose pipe pulling up-and-over the border edges. Position it where you need it. Problem solved.

EDGING HOOPS

An adaptable alternative

Sold in packs of five, the Edging Hoops can be used in exactly the same way as the Border Edge, but with a different visual appeal. How much you overlap them dictates the effect and they work perfectly when you want neat corners or subtle curves around your borders. Alternatively, use three, four or all five to enclose larger individual plants; providing protection and support, or to draw the eye to a 'feature' plant.

BORDER EDGE & LABEL HANGER

Obvious, simple and brilliant

Lifting low growing and cascading plants just enough so that you can edge and mow lawns makes life easier. . . and if we're really honest, most gardeners wish to be a little neater than they need to be! The straight or wavy Border Edge supports also edge paths nicely and keep lines of vegetables and salad in good order so you can move easily between them.

Simple, elegant and sturdy. The Label Hanger is approximately 57cm tall and sits perfectly anywhere. Place it next to that newly planted feature bulb – such as a Crown Imperial or Giant Allium; so you know exactly where it is, as it grows. Alternatively, use them to showcase your plants in general.

BUDS

Almost an outdoor sculpture in its own right, inspired by a Clematis Bud. The bulb-shaped Bud is a shapely support with stable legs; use them to protect patio plants and retain the desired shape in container plants such as Clematis. We offer a Clematis Bud, a Baby Bud and a Tall Bud. At 127cm high, the Tall Bud is also perfect for training outdoor lights year-round; or at Christmas when plants have died back.

DOMES

Attractive and dramatic

The Dome Support provides all-round protection, literally. Our Small Dome is great for smaller clumps of perennials and bulbs, whilst the Medium Dome is perfect for cossetting larger perennials such as Lupins, Achilleas and Poppies.

We think they are very Edensque, with the appearance of a posh cake stand in your garden!

STAKES & LOOPS

Beautiful sculptures for less beans

Stakes - Ever wanted a standout sculpture in your garden? The Stakes are made individually - by hand, in Tenbury Wells, Worcestershire. Daffodils, as well as 3 petal versions all are sold in packs of three and make perfect gifts ... maybe just for yourself? Made from untreated steel they will continue a natural rusting process as they age. Available in various sizes.

Loops - are supremely simple and perfectly brilliant. Available in different lengths and pack sizes to provide support for single stem plants such as Alliums, Lilies, Irises, Gladiolus and single Rose stems.

BALL-TOPPED STAKES

Standing tall and proud

These Iron Plant Stakes make a great alternative to bamboo and are much stronger. You can tie individual tall, rangy and top-heavy plants more securely at several points along the length of the stake for maximum support. (Perfect for Brussels Sprouts and big Alliums, for example).

VEGETABLES & SALADS

Home-grown happiness

You can protect from wind, heavy weather, pets and pests with our Net Cane supports. They enable you to use your own garden canes and netting on a tailor-made structure - that is cheaper than an all metal cage but more stable than using canes alone. Our Pea Net supports are perfect for creating a strong, 'open-wall' for peas and beans.

Just slide your own canes through the angled loops, tie on and drape the netting over if you need it.
